Your number one concern as sheriff is covid??? Where is my eyeroll emoji?

Sandy Stehlin

Yeah...she wants her officers to stay safe...it pretty much is the concern throughout the world...

Then maybe she should have run for a public health position, not sheriff.

Jennifer Patterson Davis Yes, a priority for the entire community is to stay healthy. Of course this is a concern in a department which has a responsibility of community housing and whose employees go back to their families and neighborhoods daily.

Elaine Moscovitz , number one priority though??? I didn't say it shouldn't be addressed, but my biggest health priority would be officers coming home safe to their families without a bullet in their head and not coming home with the flu.

In 2020, 304 officers died in the line of duty and 228 died from suicide. That is not a higher health priority than the number of officers who died from Covid or a complication (listed at 153)?

Sorry, but that is a "politician" talking and not a sheriff.
